Several Villages Taken And Bridges Burned

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Feb. 17.—The partisan detachment under the leadership of Gromoff after a desperate fight near Voxharofo station with the reserves of the Kappelist troops forced them to retreat.

The Partisans have occupied Prochasko station in the Iman district. In the Olgino district near the Sretenka village a Partisan detachment came to an open fight with the Japanese troops.

The Partisans have damaged the bridges north of Evgenievka. News has been received that the bridges on the Suchan branch of the railway have been damaged by the partisans.

Harbin, February 16.—According to Japanese information, the Partisan movement is spreading throughout the Maritime and Amur provinces. The Partisans desperately attack and fight the White detachments, and the White militia is said to be entirely unable to check their movement. In the vicinity of Anuchine, the partisans of Shevchenko have smitten a well-armed detachment of 300 Kappelists. Another considerable detachment of partisans is developing its activities in the region of Suchan mines.

Near Iman 30 sajens of railway tracks have been blown up completely interrupting railway communication. Smaller partisan detachments are successfully fighting the militia throughout the entire Nikolsk-Ussurisk county.

Between the stations of Shmakovka and Nejino a passenger-train has been derailed. The locomotive tumbled down the slope and 5 cars were completely crushed. Ten corpses and 20 wounded persons were found in the wreck. A Japanese relief train was sent to the spot. The moving of trains along the Suchan line has become very dangerous. Among the partisans many Koreans are found, who fight the Japanese detachments with special fierceness.

FRENCH ENVOY TO CONFERENCE SAYS U. S. GAINED MOST

Sarraut, Home From Washington, Gives Views

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 21.—The opinion of France's leading delegate, M Sarraut, after reflection permitted by crossing the Atlantic, is that the Washington Conference has been a success for America and for the peace of the world. He particularly referred to the benefit which America had gained by securing the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, which he said in the minds of many Americans constituted the graves' obstacle, if not the greates menace, to the expansion of America in the Pacific and towards China. America, having averted the danger of competition and conflict, can without nationa disquietude renounce her vast program of naval construction established by her in 1916, and can lighten her budget charges a the moment when a grave economic crisis makes the burden of armaments particularly odious to the American taxpayer.

M. Sarraut further declared that the suppression of the Anglo Japanese Alliance had as a logical and automatic result, the reduction of naval armaments of the three great Powers in the Pacific and that it was the pivot of the Conference. He claimed that France had helped to clear up the question of China, and had generously assisted in the efforts to improve China's finances, to restore her political and territorial integrity, and to establish a liberal regime and the Open Door. He maintained that the attitude of the French Delegation at no moment had compromised or menaced the success of the Con-

Mrs Elizabeth Schell

MRS. Elizabeth Schell, who is suing Mme. Aimee Crocker Gouraud for alienating her husband's affections, has also started suit against John G. Oldmixon, prominent New York attorney. Mrs. Schell charges that Oldmixon threatened her with fifteen years in jail on a charge of blackmail if she did not withdraw her suit against Mme. Gouraud. Mrs. Schell accuses Mme. Gouraud of the trouble brought upon her and her three children after her husband became Mrs. Gouraud's secretary, in 1919. The affair has developed into quite a tangle, and Oldmixon has been held for the Grand Jury.

WASHINGTON BALL TONIGHT WILL BE COLORFUL EVENT

Attendance Of 1,100 Expected For American Colony's Premier Social Affair

With a realistic and appealing Mount Vernon setting and a program of special entertainment features and music which have not been equalled for the affair in previous years, the Washington's Birthday Ball, event preeminent of the American colony's social year, will be held at the Town Hall this evening—the principal item in local observance of the first President's natal anniversary.

A part of the big auditorium has been transformed into the semblance of a colonial residence and on the lawn before this representation of revolutionary period architecture will be given the dance pageant which is the main feature of the special program. Dances of the various American war-times will be done, in appropriate costumings, beginning with the war of 1812 and including the recent great conflict. The couples who are to portray the terpsichorean figures of these periods have been hard at work for weeks, under special training by an expert and the dress rehearsal held last night gave ample assurance that the number will be one of the most picturesque and entertaining things of its kind which has been seen here in some time.

The hall has been elaborately decorated for the ball and there will be special lighting effects and all the usual facilities of refreshment and other service for the guests. Specially drilled musicians of the Municipal Orchestra will play for the pageant dances and the regular dance music program will be provided by Harry Kerrey's orchestra, which will give a number of the latest hits from Western stage successes.

The attendance tonight is expected to be in the neighborhood of 1,100. It was originally planned to limit the number of invitations to 1,000 but the call for tickets has been so heavy within the past few days that it was yesterday decided to extend the original number by 100. Any invitations available which have not yet been taken up may be secured, through members of the American community, from Lieut. V. Olsen, 30 Fearon Road, today.

In observance of the day various of the hotels and cafes are providing special "Washington's Birthday" dinners. American honors for the most part and all the American government offices including the Consulate and Post Office, will be closed for the day.

A special Washington's birthday program has been arranged by the Union Church Social Guild for its meeting at Union Church Hall this evening, when a number of well known local speakers will give addresses on famous Americans.

Any of those who have already subscribed for tickets to the ball but who have not yet received them, should send today to Lieut. Olsen at 30 Fearon Road.

DOLLAR LINE BUYS FOUR CHINA BUILT FREIGHTERS

Ships Turned Out By Kiangnan Dock For Pacific Run

ARE FINE VESSELS

Adjudged Best Constructed For U.S. Shipping Board

According to cable advices received at the local offices of The Robert Dollar Company, the four steamers recently turned over to the United States Shipping Board by the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works have been purchased by the Dollar Line. The first vessel to be taken delivery of, the s.s. Cathay, is now being loaded on the Pacific Coast for the Orient under the Dollar house flag. The other ships are the Celestial, Mandarin and Oriental.

There was a rumor afloat recently relative to the Shipping Board advertising these boats for sale, along with several other new vessels, but this is the first intimation to reach the Orient of the steamers having been purchased.

It will be remembered that The Robert Dollar Company handled the vessels homeward from Shanghai to San Francisco as agents for the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works, during which voyages they had their own officers and engineers aboard, and inasmuch as they handled all matters attendant to the delivery of the vessels to the United States Shipping Board, it afforded the Company an excellent opportunity of sizing up the ships prior to their purchase.

FINE RECORDS

It is interesting to know that each vessel on her voyage to the Pacific Coast made an excellent record, the best run being made by the Celestial from this port to San Francisco in 19 days. The Robert Dollar Company also had the vessels under inspection during the course of construction at Shanghai and therefore are well acquainted with their new purchases.

The four ships are of the improved "Robert Dollar Type," length over all 439 feet with a deadweight capacity of 10,300 tons, and convertible from oil to coal with a displacement of 14,550 tons. They are the largest ships ever built in a Chinese yard and shipping experts in the United States and England have declared them to be the finest and most up-to-date cargo steamers ever constructed for the United States Shipping Board.

The engines are of triple expansion type, having three cylinders arranged fore and aft over a three-throw crank shaft, the vessels are all equipped with Scotch boilers and capable of attaining a sea speed of about 13 knots.

VALUABLE ADDITIONS

Inasmuch as these vessels were constructed in the Orient by a Chinese Government yard and are especially designed for the Oriental trade in every respect, they should prove to be a valuable addition to the large fleet of vessels already owned and operated by the Dollar Line. The addition of these four steamers to the Dollar fleet brings the total now under the Dollar flag up to 23, and it is evident that Mr. Robert Dollar is firmly of the opinion that it is only a question of time until the world's trade is again on a normal basis with a goodly quantity of cargo moving to and from Oriental ports. While it has not been definitely stated, it is expected that these vessels will be operated on regular schedules, either Trans-Pacific or in the round-the-world service, in conjunction with the other Dollar liners, as the second vessel, the s.s. Celestial is expected to sail from New York within a month's time on the round-the-world service.

REBELLION FLARES UP IN ERIN; TWO MORE SLAIN

South Tipperary Brigade Issues Manifesto

OFFICERS SHOT

Figures Show Little Cessation Of Hostilities

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—The recent assertion by Mr. Collins that a coup d'etat was being prepared in South Ireland has been corroborated by a remarkable manifesto issued by the South Tipperary Brigade of the Irish Republican Army, repudiating the authority of the Provisional Government and I. R. A. Headquarters as inimical to the Republic.

A similar revolt has broken out in East Limerick.

Mr. de Valera is continuing his anti-Treaty campaign. He spoke at Cork today, claiming that the I. R. A. favored his policy.

The I. R. A. are seizing cattle, motors and other goods in South Tipperary on account of unpaid levies. The I. R. A. at Cork today burned the Dublin newspapers because a correspondent alleged that intimidation was resorted to in the appointment of delegates to the Ard Feis, or All-Ireland Sinn Fein Convention, tomorrow.

Two British officers were shot dead in Dublin.

The officers, accompanied by a private, were riding in a motor-car when a score of armed men opened fire on them. The chauffeur accelerated and the car soon outdistanced the attackers.

London, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons at question-time today, Mr. Winston Churchill stated that since the signing of the Treaty, there had been 82 attacks against the police and 34 against the military in Southern Ireland, with 11 police and 32 soldiers killed and 2 police and 4 soldiers wounded.

London, Feb. 20.—The Sinn Fein footballers have been released from Londonderry Prison.

Canton Leader Threatens To Attack Hunan Tuchun

(By a Staff Correspondent)

Hankow, Feb. 21.—The Chihli troops under the command of General Chang Fu-lai are moving towards Changsha from Yochow to resist the military expedition of Canton, whose vanguards have already reached Hengchow, Hunan, about 130 miles south of Changsha.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen is urging Tuchun Chao Hung-ti of Hunan to adopt a pro-Southern attitude and threatens to attack Hunan unless Chao complies with the demand.

General Wu Pei-fu is expected to arrive in Hankow in a few days.

Peking Visitor Feels Lack Of Rubber Neck Wagons

By Elsie McCormick

IF you are one of those Main streeters who once arrived in New York with guide-books in your pocket, ambitions in your heart, and a lot of warnings about getting acquainted with strange people in your memory, your first New York investment undoubtedly consisted of a seat on a high and unexclusive motor-bus, known generally as a rubber-neck wagon. If you were alone, you probably climbed the steps of the bus guaranteed to "go out right away" with a rigid determination to keep a firm grip on your umbrella and not let anybody talk to you.

When during the half hour of waiting, you discovered that you were totally surrounded by honeymooning couples from Indiana and school-teachers from Kansas, you tried to relax a little, only to find that the rest of the passengers were acting on the same cautions. The average person after a short stay in New York wonders whoever started that warning about not talking to strangers, anyway. The only strangers who show any inclination to talk to him are subway-guards who tell him to step lively and truck-drivers who recite the Apostles' Creed when he tries to step out of their way. After a long period of enforced lack of conversation, a stranger from more friendly ports would welcome a confidence-man with open arms.

SEEING GRANT'S TOMB

But that wasn't what we started to talk about. There is a barker on the bus who exclaims, "On yer right is Grant's Tomb, only original burial-place of Ulysses S. Grant, upteenth president of the United States, elected by the Republican Party. The inside of this massive masoleum has a cast iron casket and other interesting features. We do not stop here on this tour, but if you take our Number Five green bus, going out Tuesdays and Thursdays from Union Square, you will be allowed three minutes to view the interior."

With his assistance you learn a little about the outlay of the city, which is fortunate because Manhattan citizens asked for directions are always observed to clasp a hand over their watch and look to see if there is a policeman on the corner. If you don't meet a Manhattan citizen, you run into a new arrival, which is just as bad. In Los Angeles, the motto of the city is, "I'm a stranger here myself," but in New York, nobody fresh from Sioux City will ever admit that he doesn't know all about the town. After following his directions, you require three letter-carriers and two policemen to guide you home again.

All of which is merely preliminary to the long expected announcement that though New York presents certain difficulties to the newly-arrived navigator, Peking presents so many more that you'd think you got the answer by geometric progression. In the first place, there are no rubber-neck wagons. We have wondered what it would be like to rumble through the city on a motor-bus along with representatives of the visiting Brigands' Guild from Shensi and hear a barker explain through a megaphone, "On your left is the famous Forbidden City, containing the Chinese cabinet and other curios. In the distance is the Hatamen Gate, so called from the Chinese corruption of 'Hoot, mon!'"

NO STREET CARS

There aren't even any street-cars, so you can't pass the buck to the conductor by asking him where to get off. You can secure a guide, of course, but you will probably find him curiously overcrowded with misinformation and much given to long memorised speeches. If you interrupt a speech with a question, he has to go back to the beginning and start all over again. The chief hope of the traveler lies with those few ricsha coolies who are able to comprehend the name of a temple after it has been told to them six times by a hotel desk-clerk. Even so, there is a large chance that one of them will forget it in the first three blocks and take you to a coffin-shop instead.

Finding the homes of foreign residents is an art by itself. Practically all the foreigners tell you that they live in hutungs, which we used to think was a graceful sort of Chinese house with wind-bells hanging from the eaves and stone lions of uncertain genealogy guarding the door. We have learned since that a hutung is fourth cousin to a street. There are thousands of them in Peking, and the narrower they are, the longer their name is.

The hutungs are bordered by parallel walls broken here and there by an entrance with a high threshold and a closed gate. The foreign habit of arranging a house so that its best side is seen from the street is unknown in China. A Chinese houseowner cares so little for the impression made upon passersby that the person outside seldom catches a glimpse even of the fluted roof. When the gate is open, the inquisitive foreigner finds his vision blocked by a stone screen

M Loucheur, Treasury Minister In Briand Cabinet, Declares America Should Cancel Obligation As Best Way Of Helping Reconstruction Of Europe; Hits At Tariff Wall

IS FIRST OFFICIAL TO TAKE STAND

Asserts Reduction Of Army, As Urged By American Senators, Would Not Help; Brands Washington Attitude As "Utterly Illogical And Inconsistent"

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Feb. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Baltimore Sun has obtained an interview with M. Loucheur, Minister of Finance in the Briand cabinet and present head of the financial commission in charge of the enforcement of the reparation clauses of the Versailles treaty, with reference to the payment of France's war debt to the United States.

In this interview M. Loucheur makes the flat statement that the United States should cancel the debt owed by France, the first statement of this kind that has been made by a French government official.

"I fear that America lacks an understanding of the elemental facts of Europe," said M. Loucheur. "You ask us to pay our war debts, and we can't do it. We can't do it now and I doubt if we ever can.

"No clear headed man has the remotest idea as to how we can ever pay. The only way we can ever pay is in goods and you won't take our goods. We can't pay in currency that you will not accept. What you demand is gold, and you have all the gold in the world now. You are preparing to erect a tariff wall around your country that will even more completely bar out our goods. How utter illogical and inconsistent is this American attitude.

"The argument that if France will reduce her army she could save enough to pay her debts is neither sound nor sensible. I am not a militarist, but I am a firm believer in army reduction, which will take place in France, you may be sure. But if we reduce our army to the point considered proper by Senator McCormick will he then accept our currency in payment of our debts? If not, then the reduction of our army will not enable us to pay. Our army lives on our country and is paid in our currency. It will be reduced, but that alone will not put us in a position to pay our debts.

"It is not only my judgment, but also that of any sound student of financial affairs that America's attitude in demanding money is discouraging Europe's reconstruction. I sincerely hope that America will see the light, and help us by cancellation."

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons today Commander Hilton Young, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, foreshadowed the provision of £25,000,000 in the coming budget for the purpose of paying off the six months' interest on the British debt to America.

MARSHAL JOFFRE TO REACH PEKING NEXT SATURDAY

Elaborate Preparations Being Made For His Reception

BY JOSEPH W. HALL
(Staff Correspondent of The China Press)

Peking, Feb. 21.—Marshal Joffre will arrive in Peking from Mukden on the twenty-fifth, and elaborate preparations are being made for his reception. The police garrisoned at the capital are in training for a special military exhibition, and a triumphal arch is being erected at the railway station.

Besides the preparations that are being made by the Chinese officials, elaborate arrangements are under way by the French residents for the entertainment of their famous countryman.

Japan To Study American History

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—A course in the study of the history and the constitution of the United States will be begun at the Imperial University in this city within the next few months. Mr. A. S. Hepburn, the American banker who died recently and who took very much interest in Japan and in the dissemination of knowledge concerning the United States in this country, has made the course possible. He donated the sum of Y.120,000 for its establishment and the work will be carried on by Dr. Yasaka Takagi, who is returning from the United States within the next month.

Dr. Takagi went to America same time ago on business connected with the donation of Mr. Hepburn and upon his return the faculty of the Law School of the University will open the new course.

Red Agents Plan To Invade Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—The Chuo publishes a Kobe despatch which states that information has been received from Harbin by the Japanese police that Bolshevik agents, most of them Korean, have left for Japan with funds intended for subsidising Japanese socialists. Among the passengers aboard the Hongkong Maru leaving Kobe on the 24th inst. for Formosa were found two Koreans, in disguise, in possession of a large sum of money. They are now under examination.

Japanese Trade With India Less

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—Japan's trade with India is on the decline and the condition is attributed to the fact that the Japanese merchants and exporters have maintained the high wartime prices, while European competitors have flooded the market with cheaper goods. Swedish matches, German cement and British cotton goods are the principal factors in the lessening of the trade of Japan in the Indian Empire and the European manufacturers of these products are unusually active in their pursuit of trade.

The competition between the N.Y.K. and O.S.K. in lowering the freight rates on their fortnightly services to India has helped somewhat in bettering freight rates, but not enough to overcome the other disadvantages of rival competition.

The situation has become serious enough to warrant the getting together of the exporters interested in the Indian trade for the purpose of considering methods to check the decline and recover the lost trade. A meeting with this object in view will be held in the near future.

BALFOUR PRAISED BY SPEAKERS AT PILGRIMS DINNER

King, In Message, Sees Dawn Of New World Spirit

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—Unstinted praise was lavished on Mr. Balfour at the Pilgrims dinner at the Hotel Victoria tonight.

The Duke of York paid a tribute to the geniality, transparent kindliness, profound knowledge and untiring energy of the "pilgrim of pilgrims".

The American Ambassador, Colonel Harvey, declared that Mr. Balfour was enshrined in the hearts of the American people. Anglo-American relations, he said, had come down from the air and now rested on solid ground.

He rejoiced that the peace of the Pacific was assured, since the Senate's ratification of the Washington decisions was certain and would come much sooner than was commonly anticipated.

The King, in a message, paid a tribute to Mr. Balfour in his having maintained the highest traditions of British statesmanship, saying that he was immeasurably indebted to President Harding as the originator of the Conference and adding that, apart from the great measure of its work, the Conference had kindled among the nations of the world a new spirit which could not fail to produce lasting and far-reaching benefits for civilisation.

Earl Curzon said that the resolution passed regarding China, as far as international relationship with China was concerned, had lifted it to a higher plane of international morality and that that great country had been given a chance of finding a place under the sun.

Mr. Balfour said that of all the delegations, the American played the greatest part. He emphasises the mutual confidence prevailing from the start between the British and American delegations. He thought that the Conference had been an absolutely unmixed benefit to mankind. Its accomplishment had been immense.

Lord Curzon said that the stormclouds over the Pacific were dispersed and that no single man present would see warfare in that part of the world during his lifetime. The alliance with Japan, he said, was replaced by a friendship which was even more assured.

Mr. Balfour said a new bond of affection and regard had arisen between the Anglo-American peoples.

Taylor Acquitted In British Court

Chinese Police Sergeant's Charge Of Assault Is Not Borne Out

At a hearing held yesterday in the British Police Court before Magistrate G. W. King in connection with an incident on North Szechuen Road ten days ago in which a Chinese police sergeant was knocked down, Mr. J. B. Taylor, who was involved in the matter, was held blameless by Magistrate King.

Mr. R. C. Faithful appeared for the prosecution at the hearing and Mr. Lipson Ward represented Mr. Taylor. Following argument on a number of technical legal points that were injected into the hearing the Chinese police sergeant testified that Mr. Taylor struck him and knocked him down without cause. This story was not borne out by the testimony of a Sikh policeman and other witnesses who related that the Chinese police sergeant was striking a young foreign boy when Mr. Taylor, who was driving by, stopped his car and went to the boy's aid.

India's Tea Crop Shows Falling Off

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—Cabled particulars of the Indian tea crop position show that the total crop in North East India on February 2 was estimated at 242,000,000 pounds, as compared with 311,000,000 pounds in 1920, of which 228,750,000 pounds may be accounted for as follows: 136,750,000 pounds shipped; 41,750,000 pounds to be shipped; 42,500,000 pounds sold at Calcutta; 7,750,000 pounds awaiting sale at Calcutta; leaving a balance of 13,000,000 pounds which may be accounted for by stocks in transit.

Peking Visitor Feels Lack Of Rubber Neck Wagons

across the entrance built to keep out devils and curious stares at one and the same time.

The local custom demanding that newcomers call first soon introduces visitors to the intricacies of the hutungs. We have spent many anxious hours riksha-ing up and down them, with a muff in one hand and a letter of introduction in the other, trying to remember the mah-jongg characters so as to read a Chinese street address. This is the only practical use to which we have put our knowledge of China's dominoes with the poker education.

OTHER METHODS

There are a few other ways to get about town, of course. One sees little glass-enclosed carriages with a uniformed driver on the seat, a Number Two boy to help the horse turn corners, tasselled curtains at the windows, and a mirror opposite the passenger. We went to a silk-store in one of them once, and when we came out five minutes later, we found the horse unhitched and grazing in a nearby lot. Evidently the mafoo believed all the jokes he had read in the comic supplements about how long it takes a foreign lady to match a sample.

Intrepid tourists who believe in trying anything once occasionally go joy-riding in Peking carts. We understand also that certain hosts in the city send out the cocktail ingredients for a ride in a Peking cart thirty minutes before dinner. When they return they are perfectly blended. We had heard several lecturers on porcelains refer to Peking jars, but we never really appreciated them until a cart we were experimenting in crashed down a curbstone and jarred us from our spats to our medulla oblongata.

Though trying to find the right hutung is like looking for a small piece of rubber hose in a macaroni factory, we have occasionally discovered the correct address. Getting back is always easier, because we say "Fantien" which means hotel to the riksha coolie. He then takes us around the hotel beat until we come to the one which looks familiar. Some day when we have nothing else to do, we are going to learn the Chinese version of the hotel's Christian name.

Commerce Congress To Meet In June

(Reuter's Service)

Honolulu, Jan. 24, (by mail).—The Pan-Pacific Commercial Congress probably will be held here next June to avoid conflict with the international commercial exhibit at Rio de Janeiro and the International Chamber of Commerce conference at Rome in September, it was announced by Dr. F. F. Bunker, executive secretary of the Pan-Pacific Union, which is acting as sponsor for the Congress.

It was planned to hold the meeting here in August or September but announcement of the Rome and Rio de Janeiro conferences forced a change in prospective date to June. It was pointed out that delegates from the Far East on their way to Rome and Rio de Janeiro probably would stop off in Honolulu to attend the gatherings here.

The advice of Mr. Elliot H. Goodwin, resident vice-president at Washington of the United States Chamber of Commerce has been sought by Dr. Bunker in the promulgation of the program of subjects to be discussed.

"If the Pan-Pacific Union succeeds in its plans, it is quite within possibility that the United States Chamber of Commerce would not only undertake to participate, but aid in revising the program and in obtaining the right kind of attendance, Mr. Goodwin's reply said.

Australian Plans World Wheat Pool

(Reuter's Service)

Sydney, Feb. 20.—It is reported that plans have been prepared for the formation of a gigantic world-wide co-operative wheat marketing organisation which will eventually control the crops of Canada, the United States and Australia.

Mr. Trethowan, Chairman of the Voluntary Wheat Pool, is going to London en route to Canada and the United States to consult with wheat organisations regarding the scheme.

Grain Exporters To Hold Parley

(Reuter's Service)

Montreal, Canada, Jan. 23.—Plans are on foot to call a conference of representatives of all the grain exporting countries for a general discussion of grain marketing problems of the world.

Mr. J. D. Hyndman, chairman of the Canadian federal grain inquiry board, is the author of the plans and has recently concluded a long correspondence with the government of the United States, Australia and other nations.

The proposal for this international conference, Mr. Hyndman says, has been favorably received and steps are being taken to carry the plans into effect. The idea as proposed by the Canadian grain board is to create an international organisation to eliminate violent fluctuations in prices, to regulate the movement of crops more evenly, and to insure farmers steadier and more profitable prices.

ARMS COMMISSION

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 20.—In accordance with the League of Nations resolution a mixed commission consisting of six civilians, six military officials, four economists and financiers, three employers and three laborites, has met to discuss the reduction of armaments.

The commission has decided to ask all governments what armaments they considered were necessary for national defence and for the carrying out of international obligations.

USE PATIONS-SUN-PROOF PAINTS SOLE AGENTS THE FEARON, DANIEL COMPANY

TARIFF INCREASE IN CHINA ALARMS JAPAN'S SPINNERS

Fear Higher Rates Will Affect Their Trade Here

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 15.—Japanese spinners are viewing the new Chinese tariff with a considerable amount of alarm and there is a pronounced fear that the trade in cotton goods and cotton yarn with China is going to receive a serious setback upon the introduction of the new schedule allowed by the ruling of the Washington Conference.

Taking the official figures for the year of 1921 which state that the trade with China in Cotton Yarn and Cotton Goods amounted to Y.150,000,000, the experts figure a reduction of Y.3,500,000 in exports. This loss will be a serious blow to the smaller concerns engaged in the enterprise, and when it is considered that the majority of firms engaged in this phase of industry are of that type, the question immediately becomes a very serious one.

There are some who suggest that the Japanese should raise the price of goods shipped out to China, but there are others of the more conservative type who claim such a policy would be suicidal to the industry in this country.

A general meeting of the spinners will be held at a near date and one of the propositions up for consideration is that of developing the primitive industry in China itself, with Japanese capital and under Japanese management. This, it is claimed, can be done easily by using the Japanese capital now tied up by the spinning companies in what is called the reserve fund. At the same time it is maintained, this section will stimulate and promote the purchasing power of the Chinese themselves.

London, Feb. 20.—The list for the New Victoria Government Loan of £4,000,000, bearing interest at the rate of 5½ percent per annum, redeemable between 1930 and 1940 and issued at 99, was closed this morning.

J. C. CLARK GOES TO STATES FOR BOYS' 'Y' WORK

Mr. J. C. Clark and family return to America on furlough on the Empire State. Mr. Clark has been for some years secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in charge of boys' work and in this capacity he has secured such co-operation as to make the Shanghai "Y" well known in the Association world for its boys' work program.

The Shanghai boys' department is one of the largest in the world having its own building and carrying on a varied program for the boy life of the city. Mr. Clark has also been actively identified with the work of the Junior Red Cross and of the Community Service League which has done much for the poor people of the northern district of Shanghai.

NO SETTLEMENT YET REACHED OF HONGKONG STRIKE

Reports Received, However, Say Coastal Service Is Being Resumed

While reports of the strike situation at Hongkong received here yesterday carry indication that the trouble is working toward an adjustment, as a number of coastal vessels are resuming service, the fact that several major ships still are being held reveals that no final settlement of the tie-up has been reached.

The steamer Nile of The China Mail, which lately was taken off a southern run and is to be returned to the trans-Pacific run out of San Francisco, has been held up at Hongkong for more than a week and the Nanking of the same line also is strike-bound. The Nanking was scheduled to sail from Hongkong on Monday, but advices had not been received here yesterday saying the vessel had been able to get away.

Among the vessels in the coastal service that have resumed service, according to messages received here, are the ships in the Canton-Wuchow service which have been idle for the past several weeks.

Five vessels of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company are among those which have sailed from the Crown Colony. The Kungwo, the newest addition to the Indo-China fleet, arrived here on Saturday from Hongkong, where she was constructed at the Hongkong and Whampoa docks. The Kungwo is of modern design and has accomodations for a large number of passengers and cargo. She has been assigned to the river run and will leave for Hankow early in March. On the trip up from Hongkong, the Kungwo was manned by a Ningpo crew sent from here a week ago by the Ichang. The Taksang, another of the Indo-China fleet, arrived here yesterday.

Three other Indo-China boats have been released with the aid of Ningpo seamen. These are the Kwongsang, Hopsang, and Kwangchow, which left Hongkong last Thursday. The Hopsang has gone to Bangkok for a load of rice while the Kwongsang is going to Calcutta.

The China Navigation company's vessels are also being released from Hongkong. The Hanyang arrived here Saturday with a Ningpo crew and has sailed for Wuhu. The Changsha has sailed from Hongkong for Australia, while the Hunan has also succeeded in getting away.

The Blue Funnel liner Agapenor is sailing from here for London on Thursday. She has already discharged a portion of her Hongkong cargo here, and will in all probability discharge the balance at Singapore. She will not call at Hongkong nor take any further cargo for the Crown Colony.

China Daredevil Plunges To Death From Top Of Pagoda

(China Press Correspondence)

Huchow, Chekiang, Feb. 18.—Spectacular tragedy, witnessed by several people in the foreign compounds just opposite, occurred here yesterday at the "Flying Hero Pagoda," when a man too rashly confident in his skill in climbing plunged headfirst from the highest roof of the pagoda to his death on the ground one hundred and forty feet below.

Hundreds of people collected immediately to view the unfortunate creature.

The accident arose from the fact that three countrymen came into the city to "look around." Coming to the famous old pagoda, they decided to climb up inside. This pagoda is ancient and in a semi-ruined condition, making its ascent both difficult and perilous. Some of the beggars who have taken possession of the lower part of the tower warned the men not to make the attempt, but one of them, the victim of the accident, dared the others to climb as high as he would. So up they went, climbing fairly easily from floor to floor until they came to the roof of the seventh story. Here the leader emerged through a hole just underneath the thirty-foot iron needle, which, surrounded by a series of iron belts, surmounts the pagoda proper. So far all had gone well, but as the challenger essayed to climb up these iron belts his foot slipped, his hands lost their hold, he dropped a short space, swinging around and falling face down on the roof, over which he rapidly slid, taking with him great quantities of tiles, and was dashed to the ground below, broken in every limb.

Included in the program were piano and violin selections, songs and recitations and even a cinema production was screened. The proceeds realised reached the total of $108.

KAGA MARU RACES TO KOBE AFIRE

Water Police Aid Ship's Crew —Damage Yen 120,000

Kobe, February 13.—Steaming at full speed, the passenger steamer Kaga Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha with fire in one of her front hatches arrived at Kobe from Calcutta late Saturday night. Having recently been transferred to the Indian service from the European run, the Kaga Maru was on her first homeward voyage She left Calcutta January 13

She was laden with a full cargo of Indian freight, including 15,650 bales of raw cotton, ivory and general merchandise. Fire broke out in her No. 1 hatch, which was fully loaded with raw cotton, when the ship was three hundred miles from Kobe. With water being poured into the affected hatch, the ship made port in the shortest possible time.

Informed previously by wireless that the ship was afire the total water police sent launches with fire engines immediately after the ship entered port and helped the ship's crew in checking the further spread of the fire into other hatches. After burning throughout Saturday night, the fire was brought under control Sunday morning.

Some 3,420 bales of raw cotton were either burnt or badly damaged. The damages are roughly estimated at Y.120,000, but they will be compensated by the insurance. The cause of the fire is now being investigated. The Kaga Maru was popular on the firm's European line, where she served for several years, until her place was taken by the new liner Hakone Maru about two months ago. She had a small list of passengers at the time of the outbreak of the fire.

Peking To Have Dramatic Club

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Feb. 16.—Some prominent amateur players and dramatic critics of the Capital, have formed an amuteur dramatic club, called the "Chung Hua Hsi Chu Hsieh Hui." The object of the club as defined in its constitution is to promote and study modern dramas having an educational or an artistic value.

The club will publish a magazine the first issue of which has just made its appearance. It contains many articles written by some of the best known dramatic critics in the country. The society will give renderings of dramas and amateur performances. The formation of such a society in Peking evidences the changing attitude of educated Chinese toward the stage. Under the old conventions actors were regarded as declasse.

Permission has been given by the Military Commissioner, Ho Feng-lin, to Mr. Hsu Chien-ching, chief of the Bureau of Public Works and Taxes of North Shanghai to issue debenture bonds to the amount to the extent of Tls. 100,000, according to the Chinese press. The funds thus realised will be utilised for the construction of public highways in the district. Mr. Hsu has circulated a letter among the members of the gentry appealing for support.

VALUE OF MIND POWER

Employers set high premium upon the mental ability of their executives. We are living in an age which demands mental enlightenment and high thinking power. There is nothing permanent in nature, because it is human to always be more than what we at present are. No one can escape the Law of Progress. A polished iron is bound to be rusty for want of use. Mental microbes find their breeding place in the lazy mind. Everyone attains supremacy over conditions and circumstances by the constant use of mental power. We rise from the mire of ignorance, poverty, and sickness by the use of The Great Power within us. The majority of people prefer that others do the thinking for them and by following the line of least resistance, they become victims to all disagreeable conditions in life.

We know today that for a very little money we can get a great amount of muscle. But when we come to buy mind, it is a different question. Men of mind place high valuation upon their own mental ability. It is not a question of mere intellectuality for there are many noted intellects who are despondent in life, sick, or in great embarrassment. Kingdoms and empires have crumbled in the dust of ages not for want of intellectuality, but for not using mental forces and Will-Power wisely. A man may have any amount of money in his safe but if he does not know the combination of the safe he would not be able to get his money out. Ignorance of the Law excuses no one.

In the industrial vocations we find living examples where great brain workers are paid the highest dividends and even upheld as leaders of the great business organizations because the directing powers of the mind constitute the mighty factors in the business and social world.

Correspondence instructions are given describing the practical method of how to apply mind forces for individual application. Apply to Box No. 271, THE CHINA PRESS.

Of course no Whisky can have a "literary flavour," but Haig & Haig has a flavour that other Whiskies have not, and Haig & Haig takes a little more trouble than other Distillers in telling the public what qualities go to give Haig & Haig the distinction that it has in the Whisky world.

UNREST IN INDIA ATTRIBUTED TO RED PROPAGANDA

Trouble In Turkey Also Blamed By Secretary Montagu

(Chung Mei News Agency)

London, February 18.—When the Indian question came up in of debate in the House of Commons today Mr. Montagu, Secretary for India, replied to certain criticisms, and showed that India was affected by the economic situation that was troubling the whole world. The only real remedy to these evils, he said, lay in the development of the industrial and agricultural resources of India.

He also said that the continued hostilities between Greece and Turkey were profoundly affecting the situation in India, and that nothing would prove more advantageous to the restoration of peace in India than a closer understanding between the allies with a view to ensuring peaceful relations between Turkey and Greece.

The speaker also alluded to Bolshevist propaganda as a cause of disturbances in India and said that various conflicts between the classes, strikes, and other manifestation, had occurred in India despite that it was just beginning to adapt itself to modern industrial life.

Mr. Montagu also declared that the British policy aimed at maintaining the integrity of the British Empire, while allowing at the same time India to attain complete self-government within its own confines.

General Townshend, also speaking upon these matters, said that the disturbances in India were the consequence of the fact that Great Britain had not made peace with Turkey. He recalled that France had adopted a different policy.

Lloyd George in a speech delivered in the course of the same debate said that the conclusion of peace with Turkey could not fail to have a happy influence on the situation in India.

Judge Landis Quits Bench; To Give Time To Baseball

Supreme Arbiter Of National Game Resigns As Federal Judge

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Feb. 21.—Judge Keneshaw M. Landis, of the federal court at Chicago, "supreme arbiter" of professional baseball in America, has resigned his position on the bench and has announced that he will henceforth devote his full time to baseball.

Judge Landis has been acting as supreme arbiter of professional baseball and as judge of the federal court of Chicago since 1919, when several players of the Chicago White Sox confessed to combining with a group of gamblers to "throw" the world's series of that year to Cincinnati.

The position of "supreme arbiter" was created then and Judge Landis invited to fill it, his selection being considered by baseball moguls as ideal for the difficult baseball situation existing at that time and as the only step that might save the game from absolute boycott.

The judge pulled baseball out of the chasm of betting and dishonesty into which the public believed it to have fallen, and almost immediately with his appointment professional baseball resumed its high place in American favor and confidence and has still been held there.

The resignation of the judgeship by Landis probably is the outgrowth of criticism which has been voiced in America against a judge of a higher court holding an outside position to which was attached such a high salary as that which goes to the Supreme Arbiter—$42,500 annually.

FEARON DANIEL'S FORFEIT TO PUBLIC SCHOOL FRIDAY'S MATCH MAY TIE TWO LEADERS

Bearcats And Strokeside May Play Post-Season Series For 1922 Title

A forfeit on non-appearance by the Fearon Daniel basketball five to the Public School in their regular Foreign League match last night put the School boys up another notch in the tables of standings, to fourth position, ahead of the Shanghai College Faculty which already has finished out its season's schedule with 500 percent.

The second game scheduled for last night, that between the "Y" and the College was played off on Saturday so that the night instead of having two sharp games in progress was a blank as far as basketball is concerned. Tonight also is open, but the "Y" and the Fearon Daniel five play a match tomorrow commencing at 8 o'clock at the "Y". The second game scheduled for tomorrow between the Public School and the College was played through Monday to a 20-15 win for the faculty men.

The "Y" tomorrow play their next to last game of the series. They are scheduled to meet the American Trading five on the last of the month in their eighteenth and concluding game of the season.

LIANG MADE 'EM HUSTLE WHILE HE WAS ON THE JOB

Premier Set Fast Pace For His Subordinates

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Feb. 15.—At the reception to foreign correspondents at the cabinet office today, it was reported that Premier Liang Shih-yi had no intention of resuming his position as head of the cabinet and was only awaiting the selection of his successor before submitting his official resignation.

In spite of the fact that he has been urged by the president and also by the super-tuchuns to take over his official duties at least temporarily, Liang refuses to become a nominal premier with his hands tied by the military. The premier is a man of energy and initiative who according to reports refuses to be satisfied with half measures, and having found that he was hampered at every turn, he now definitely wishes to give up the premiership.

Cabinet officials were much impressed with Liang's business-like attitude toward his job during his brief tenure of the premiership. Reporting daily at eight it was his habit to work until ten, receive callers until twelve, lunch, attend cabinet meetings and work until four, then report to the president, and at eight return to his omce for two or three more hours. Not only did he keep to this schedule himself but he forced his subordinates to keep unwonted hours of work.

As to Liang Shih-yi's successor opinion seems to be turning toward Dr. W. W. Yen according to the information given out at this time. The congratulatory telegrams received on his assumption of the acting-premiership and other telegrams received from various provincial officials give every evidence of strong support for Dr. Yen from the provinces. Observers feel sure that his appointment to the office would meet with popular approval and his unique position in Chinese politics would bring him support from all sides. The attitude of the super-tuchuns has not been expressed but it is at least certain that they hold no personal grudge against him. When he became acting premier congratulatory messages were received from Chang Tso-lin and Tsao Kun but not from Wu Pei-fu.

As to the chances of Dr. Yen accepting the premiership if it should be offered to him, it is believed that he would probably do so if convinced that he were really the only man available for the office. His resignation of the two positions which he at present holds was caused by the intention that he has repeatedly expressed that with the completion of the Washington Conference he wished to retire from the Foreign Office.

Forfeit Likely To Cause A Tie

The "Y" to date is credited with one win and 15 loses, though the win is a technical forfeit by Anderson Meyer. The team is the real occupant of the bottom position, for Anderson Meyer with whom they share the low percentage, have won one game this season, back on Dec. 5, when they beat the "Y" 37-26.

BIG GAME FRIDAY

The biggest game of the year will be played on Friday when the undefeated Bearcats meet the Strokeside at the Rowing Club at 5:30 o'clock in their second round of the schedule. The game, with the winning Bearcats weakened by Dr. Gray's departure, and the Strokeside strengthened and improved almost a hundred percent since their early season form, will be the basketball classic of the year for Shanghai fans.

Irle's men will be put through the severest test of the year on Friday when Neprud, Goldman, Johnson and the Nashes oppose them. They will find the Rowing Club men playing basketball as well as any Bearcat ever played it, and they will have to play and fight hard to hold their perfect score.

Friday's game may result in a tie for first position. Should the Strokeside win they will have 16 won and one lost, even up with the Bearcats. The latter are certain of their last game over the disbanded Anderson Meyer five, and the Strokeside are fairly certain of taking their final match against the American School on size and strength and experience. With the two big teams finishing up the league schedule tied for first position it is not at all unlikely that a post season series between the two fives will be played to decide the 1921-22 title.

SAILORS DANCE TONIGHT

The crew of the British warship Cairo, which is scheduled to leave port for Nanking tomorrow morning, will give a farewell dance this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Rowing Club. A general invitation is extended. It was originally planned to hold the dance on Saturday night but a change in sailing orders necessitated putting forward the date.

TUNG CHAIRMAN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 18.—Mr. Tung Kuang, Minister of Justice, was appointed by mandate last evening Chairman of the Short-term Loan Adjustment Commission, while the President has also appointed Mr. Yang Shu-nan, Vice-Minister of Finance, as a Special Commissioner to examine matters connected with the conversion or adjustment of short-term loans.

LETTER CARRIER SENT TO PRISON FOR DRAFT THEFT

A Chinese postman was sentenced to a year's imprisonment by Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan at the Mixed Court yesterday for theft of a registered letter containing checks for Tls. 7,000. He did not succeed in cashing the checks and slipped the opened letter back into a batch of incoming mail and his detection only resulted through the careful checking system of the Chinese post office.

Testimony in the case was given by Mr. F. L. Smith, Deputy Commissioner of the Chinese Post Office. The letter in question, he stated was received in a consignment of 1,000 pieces of express matter from Nanking and was turned over to the carrier for delivery. When the check was made later it was found that one letter had not been delivered. Later in the day the letter, with the end slit open, was found in a batch of mail from Hangchow. The checks were inside. By means of the time book the clerks were able to bring suspicion to bear on a restricted number of carriers and it was noted that the carrier in question had come in half an hour earlier than usual. When accused by the delivery clerk and confronted with the opened letter the carrier confessed. He had tried to cash the checks, he said, but could not and so came back and mixed it up with the Hangchow mail.

Gives Talk Today On Early China Stamps

Mr. Juan Mencarini of the Shanghai Philatelic Society will read a paper on the first issues of the 1878 to 1883 stamps of China at the society's meeting to be held today at 5:30 p.m. in the Royal Asiatic Society rooms, Museum Road. All interested are invited to attend.

That stamp collecting is growing in the Settlement is seen from the increasing number of stamp auctions being held, oftentimes as many as two in one day. They are marked by good attendances and spirited bidding, especially by Chinese, who number, it is said, over 500 enthusiasts locally.

'The Lure Of The Labrador' Described To Clubwomen

"The Lure of the Labrador" was the special attraction which brought out a large number of members of the American Woman's Club to the Carlton Cafe yesterday afternoon, where after tea and a brief business meeting the Mothers' Department presented to the Club Dr. Vivia B. Appleton, who spoke of her work on the Labrador coast.

It was indeed a "different world" to which the speaker transported her interested audience, to the sparsely inhabited strip of coast some thousand miles along the Newfoundland part of Labrador, where she was the only medical practitioner, making her headquarters at Forteau and travelling by boat or dog-team over 800 miles in nine months in response to calls for help which came to her. In spite of the grinding poverty of the people—mainly Anglo-Saxons, some two or three generations from Scotland and England—and notwithstanding their ignorance as result of inadequate school facilities Dr. Appleton evidently loved her chill and forbidding field, and what is more she made the audience appreciate the stolid, reserved but dignified and honorable plain people she described.

HELPED THE CHILDREN

As a specialist in child hygiene who has assisted the development of this branch of medical science in America and France, Dr. Appleton was particularly interested in the opportunity this unusual work gave her to carry on her studies of nutrition in this land of beri-beri and scurvy but her work naturally had to be also that of the all round family doctor.

She was able to demonstrate to the handicapped housekeepers of this isolated country how their diet might include more of the necessary vitamines and how the children might be kept from the depleting effects of malnutrition by carefully tended gardens and one scientifically nurtured cow. Somehow she managed to teach those serious children how to play games and got a bit of social pleasure into the dull lives of the young people, whose previous ideal of a jolly time was "sitting up" with a tubercular invalid. The light and shade of that fascinating country was ably brought out in the spirited and sympathetic description given by Dr. Appleton.

ANNOUNCEMENTS MADE

The announcements made at the meeting were as follows: Music Department meets March 9 at 4:30 at the Astor for a business session; program on Modern Composers at 5. The Anglo-Chinese Cook Book, copies of which have been presented to the Social Service Department of the Club by the editors, Mrs. P. L. Bryant and Mrs. Calder-Marshall, may be obtained at all club meetings at the library. Proceeds will be devoted to the work of this department.

Dr. Frank Rawlinson will speak at the next meeting of the Literary Department, March 3, at 4:30 at the Royal Asiatic Society hall. The long-promised paper by Mrs. Houghton on "Discipline" will be read at the next meeting of the Mothers' Department, March 1 at ten o'clock at the Carlton Cafe.

The Social Service Department was able to turn over to the Permanent Equipment Fund $556 as the proceeds of the Valentine dance. The Committee on Constitution was announced as Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman, Mrs. R. W. Squires, and Mrs. P. H. Dunbar.

Less Than Million Students In China

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, February 18.—In response to circular telegrams sent out by the Ministry of Education, requesting statistics upon the number of schools at present running in China and the number of students at present studying in those schools, reports have been sent in that show that there are about 39,870 schools in the country, this including Middle Schools, Colleges, Private Schools, and Universities. The number of students is estimated at 902,000.

Assuming that only half of the population of China, 400,000,000, is of school age, the above showing is scored by educators as a national disgrace. Less than one-half of one percent of the children of China are attending school, while Japan with its 56,000,000 population has more than 7,000,000 school children, 90 percent of whom are in the primary and middle school departments. Japan's showing of more than 12 percent in school is in sharp contrast with China's pitiable half of one percent, say prominent pedagogues.

IMPORTANT, IF TRUE

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Canton, Feb. 17.—A certain Northern Tuchun has telegraphed to Canton acknowledging Dr. Sun Yat-sen as President. He has two representatives in the South—one in Canton and the other has gone to Kueilin.

Tuchun Chen Kuang-yuan of Kiangsi has telegraphed to Teng Wen-hui, his representative in Canton, asking him what is the exact attitude of Canton towards Kiangsi. Teng has replied that the only conditions of the South are the recognition of Dr. Sun Yat-sen as President and obedience to his orders. Teng states also that a certain important military leader in the North has already acknowledged Sun as president.

Bottomley Offers To Answer Critic

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—Following the acquittal of the Birmingham printer, Mr. Bigland, at the Shropshire assizes on Saturday on the charge of inciting to extort money from Mr. Horatio Bottomley, M. P., and Mr. Justice Darling's severe comments on Mr. Bottomley's failure to go into the witness-box to refute Mr. Bigland's serious allegations of swindling, Mr. Bottomley has written to the Public Prosecutor, inviting him to send a representative to whom he could make a detailed statement, which could be used as evidence if necessary, and produce every available document he possesses.

Fear For Lenine's Safety At Genoa

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 14.—As previously reported, the peasants and workers of Russia entertain grave fears as to the personal safety of Lenin if he attends the Genoa Conference, in view of the White Guards abroad. Resolutions against his journey to Genoa continue to be adopted throughout the country. The workmen of the Second State Factory in Harkoff declare in a resolution:

"We, workmen, declare that we do not want to let Ilyich (Lenin's father's name, the use of which signifies intimacy and endearment, common among Russian peasants) go to Genoa even if all the leaguers of the bourgeoisie will be given us as a hostage. We do not trust Ilyich's safety to them."

Inouye Dubious On Trade Outlook

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Feb. 18.—Speaking at the general meeting of shareholders of the Bank of Japan today, Mr. Inouye, the President, made the following statement:

"Judging from the present state of affairs, it is to be anticipated that the adverse condition of Japan's foreign trade will still continue for some time to come. It is also unlikely that the present world-wide depression will change for the better so easily in view of the actual conditions in Germany, Russia and other countries in Central Europe, which have a vital concern with the rehabilitation of international economies.

Customs Increase Less Than Expected

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, February 18.—According to reliable reports, the Customs increase granted to China by the Washington Conference is going to fall far short of the total estimated in Washington, and will not be sufficient security for all the obligations which the Chinese Government is planning to secure upon it. In Washington the amount of the increase would total, it was said, $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Present reports say, however, that the Customs Administration estimates put this increase at $5,000,000 or less.

The reason for the discrepancy in estimates is due to the fact that the commission that revised the tariff in 1918 raised the tax on some articles to an effective five percent. Thus, the articles now taxed with a lower duty are fewer than was anticipated, and the total increase of revenue will be but a third of what was estimated.

Tuan's Explanation Fails To Satisfy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 18.—Public curiosity regarding the visit of General Tuan Chi-jui has not been allayed with the explanation given that General Tuan merely desired relief from the atmosphere of political intrigue which pervades Peking. The opinion is volunteered that if a fusion of the principal military cliques throughout China is being attempted, General Tuan would be a very suitable candidate for the post of leadership.

General Wang Chen-ping, General Wu Pei-fu's emissary to Mukden, returned here yesterday and leaves for Paotingfu today. It is stated that his mission has been very successful. General Wang was welcomed by the Mukden troops stationed outside Shanhaikwan and reviewed them.

General Chang Ching-huei is to leave Mukden shortly.

Alaskan Railway To Be Completed This Month

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 19.—Bringing together the ends of steel on Alaska's 467-mile government railroad from Seward, on the seacoast, to Fairbanks, in the heart of the Yukon country, progressed, that definite plans are being made for a great celebration throughout the territory to mark the driving of the "golden spike" some time in mid-February.

The ceremony, which will be attended by Governor Scott C. Bone, of Alaska, and other high territorial and federal officials, will take place at the Riley Creek bridge, 120 miles south of Fairbanks. Thousands are expected to attend the ceremony.

The Riley Creek bridge is in itself a triumph of engineering. Late in November, 1921, 500 tons of steel for the bridge were shipped from Seattle to Seward. Today the bridge, a 900-foot structure, is practically completed. With the exception of the 1,340-foot steel bridge across the Tanana River at Nenana, which will not be placed in service until late this year or early in 1923, it is the last unit of the road to be completed. Pending completion of work on the bridge at Nenana trains will be sent across the Tanana on ferries in the Summer, and over tracks laid on the ice during the winter months.

The government railroad cost approximately $56,000,000 and has been under construction since 1914. The main line between Seward and Fairbanks is 467 miles in length, but, with branches, the completed system will have a total trackage of 539 miles. For some months past luxurious trains, with Pullman coaches and buffet dining cars have been operated over the main line on a once-a-week schedule. Freight was carried between the ends of steel by dog sled.

Alaskans hail the coming of the railroad as the key that will unlock one of the richest territories in the world. Mail from Seattle will reach Fairbanks in nine days. Heretofore from one to three months was the usual time of transit. The road will be open the year round and no longer will the freezing of the Yukon in Winter mean that the great interior country must hibernate until resumption of navigation in the Spring.

Alaska's richest areas are tapped by the road. The fertile valleys of the Tanana and Yukon will be in direct connection with Seward, a seaport with a harbor free of ice for twelve months in the year. The road passes through important coal fields, one of which is expected to furnish supplies of steaming fuel for naval vessels. It traverses what government geologists describe as a rich potential oil district in the Cook Inlet region contiguous to Anchorage.

Before the advent of the railroad, according to federal reports it cost $70 to ship one ton of hay, corn, potatoes or other necessities to Fairbanks. The freight went by boat to St Michaels, at the mouth of the Yukon, was then reshipped up the Yukon and Tanana Rivers to Fairbanks, a total distance of 1,900 miles. Sometimes it was shipped through Skagway, over the White Pass and Yukon railroad to White Horse, thence down the Yukon and Tanama Rivers at a cost of $66.

Today the same bulk of freight can be shipped by the railroad in three weeks less time than by either of the older routes, traversing a total distance of 1,885 miles at a cost of about $30. Since the road began handling traffic a few months ago the cost of oats in Fairbanks dropped from $150 to $70 a ton the price of beef dropped 25 cents a pound. Wood costing $130 a cord was replaced by lignite coal delivered at $6 a ton.

An increase in tourist traffic is expected. Mount McKinley 20,300 feet in altitude and the loftiest peak on the North American continent is but a short distance from the line and Mount McKinley National Park will become accessible.

'Y' Worker Feted By Nanchang Friends

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, February 15.—F. B. Lenz, for three years general secretary of the Nanchang Y.M.C.A., left this morning with his wife and children for America in answer to an emergency call from the International Committee in New York for help in the current million and a half campaign for the work of the Association now being carried on in forty-six countries. During his five years in China, Mr. Lenz has contributed many articles on Chinese life, education and industry to periodicals here and in America.

On Sunday Civil Governor Yang gave a dinner in his honor at which he enumerated to the guests the various community activities in which Mr. Lenz had taken a prominent part and expressed the hope for his speedy return. On Monday at Y. M. C. A. "Coffee Club," the Kiangsi Associated Charities, the Educational and Agricultural Societies, the Chamber of Commerce and the Provincial Assembly were hosts at a dinner at which they urged upon him the importance of taking every opportunity during his absence to further Sino-American friendship. Mr. Lenz expects to return to China in the fall of 1923.

The Nanchang foreign community welcomes the return from furlough of Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Craighill of the American Church Mission. The Craighills' succeeded in raising funds for Church and school buildings in Nanchang. The present property of the Shen Kung-huei on Hsitakai has long been inadequate for the work here and the new buildings are sorely needed. The Rev. Vincent H. Gowen who took charge of the work during the Craighills' absence has gone to Wuhu.

Nanking To Have New Public Park

(China Press Correspondence).

Nanking, Feb. 17.—When the Congressional party visited Nanking in September, 1920, Gov Chi, then Kiangsu Garrison Commissioner, suggested that the ground around the Drum Tower should be bought up and turned into a public park. Mr. Wang Beh-chiu, principal of the Law School, drew up the plans for the park and Mr. Wang Gwei-ling Police Commissioner, and Mr Liang Feng-swen, Councillor to the Governor, are in charge of operations.

The plan is to buy about twenty mou of land immediately around the Drum Tower, plant trees shrubs and flowers, and turn the place into a recreational center. Some land has already been purchased and the huts that for so long have been an eye-sore to all passersby are being torn down. Governor Chi has personally guaranteed the funds and it is estimated that about $15,000 will be needed to complete the project.

New Non Political Magazine Out

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Feb. 16.—A new magazine, under the name of the Black Dragon Pool, has just been published in Peking and put on the market at the hotels and newsstands in Peking. It has been put out by an anonymous group, and consists of stories essays, poems, and translations from Chinese folk-tales and renderings of Chinese poetry. As far as is known it is the first appearance of such a magazine devoted solely to literary matters and avoiding except in a humorous way, all reference to things political.

LONDON WILLING TO LET PARLEYS AT GENOA WAIT

British Leaders Ready To Accept Paris' View

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Feb. 20.—Advices from London state that although no official declaration has been made on the subject, it appears more and more probable that the London Cabinet is becoming reconciled to the idea of the postponement of the Genoa Conference.

The usually well-informed Daily Chronicle says that Cabinet circles now realise that the conference must be postponed. The paper deplores the necessity for any delay, although it recognises that the postponement of the conference for one month will enable the preliminary work to be more completely dealt with.

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Feb. 15.—In connection with the attempts of the French Government to work out a detailed agenda of the forthcoming Conference at Genoa before accepting the invitation to the Conference, the French press has published the following note of the Italian Government addressed to France.

"In sending the invitation the Italian Premier acted in accordance with the decisions reached at Cannes by the Allied Powers including France. The agenda of the Conference has also been agreed upon at Cannes, and it is therefore unnecessary for the French Government now to give its consent to the Conference and the agenda thereof."

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Feb. 18.—Chinese delegates at the Washington Conference have advised their Government not to take part in the Genoa Conference, according to an article in today's Yi Shih Pao China was invited to take part in this meeting at the time when the original invitations were sent out by the powers but the Government has not yet decided whether it would be advisable for the Republic to be represented.

The opinion expressed by the three delegates who have been representing China at Washington was based on the fact that the Genoa deliberations will be mainly concerned with the economic rehabilitation of Europe and is an outgrowth of the German Reparations Commission. As China has refused to sign the German treaty Drs. Sze, Koo, and Wang feel that there is no necessity for Chinese participation.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Feb. 20.—Interviewed by a correspondent of Le Journal the Czecho-Slovakian Premier, Dr. Benes, said that nothing satisfactory was to be expected from the Genoa Conference if it were unduly hurried.

The program should be carefully digested. At any rate no plan for Europe's reconstruction could succeed outside of France's and Great Britain's co-operation.

Harbin, February 16.—The decision taken by the management of the Chinese Eastern Railway concerning the laying of a second track on the southern line from Harbin to Changchun is regarded by the local commercial circles as a victory of the secret policy of the South Manchuria Railway, which is endeavoring to paralyse the export trade of Vladivostok and to attract exports to Dairen.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Feb. 20.—The Paris-London cross-rate was quoted today at: £1 Francs 47.99.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

February 21, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 64⅞ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 438¼.

The official Sterling rate was unchanged from yesterday, the Gold Dollar rate raised to 70½, the Franc rate dropped to 770, and the Yen rate to 37½.

Our market today was steady, business in Sterling being done at about the same rates as those prevailing yesterday afternoon.

Gold Dollars, in consequence of the rise in the cross rate, were steadier than yesterday, there being good sellers at 71¼ for February, 71 for March and 70½ for April. There were sellers of Sterling practically throughout the day at 3-27/32 for February, 3-2¾ for March and 3-2⅝ for April, with buyers at about ⅛d. above these rates.

The market was quiet throughout the day and featureless. India bought a small amount of silver in London yesterday, and the market there is reported as being steady. The New York market is still nominal, with no business being transacted.

SHANGHAI, FEB. 22, 1922

WEATHER

The high pressures advance towards Manchuria and the weather will probably set raining again. Fresh or strong winter monsoon all along the coast.

What About Russia?

Statesmen search the industrial debris to recover the lost strands of Europe's prosperity. They must hear the human cry gathering volume in that black drama of the Volga. Let them still the cry, ransom the hostage by recognition and trade, and fortune will return by way of Russia's wheatfields.

How many human beings will have perished? Relief workers tell us millions will be saved by wheat from America, provisions from the Vatican, clothing from England, medical supplies from Germany, and aid from many other nations. But Russia is immense, and her winter severe. The actual toll taken by famine and typhus will be a secret till the Spring comes north this year, and the thawing snow banks tell the story of those who failed. And then Russia must bury her dead.

A change is coming. Since 1917 a Stygian night has obscured events on those endless, cold plains of Eastern Europe. Revolution has touched bottom. Evolution may now begin to rebuild. Spring, this year, promises the sunlight.

In our safe and sane order of the West we have been unable to think of Russia save in terms of suspicion and dread. We saw a conspiracy of dreamers wreck an empire, and endanger the established order of the world. We wondered at the naivete of those world-weavers who dealt in such catch words as collective instinct, dictatorship of the proletariat, state ownership, abolition of capital, and absorption of all individuality into the state.

They were mad.

As time went on it was seen that Bolshevism was Czarism standing on its head. It was a whirlpool that sucked the old order down to destruction, and then quieted into a murky flood of incompetence. That stage is passed. The Soviets deny Communism, theory and practice. There is no more shouting about the dictating proletariat. That class exists only if there is a capitalistic class. The dead level of Communism is self-destructive.

State ownership, in demanding the surplus grain from the peasants, was one of the prime causes of the tragic famine, the effects of which have not yet been measured. The Soviets admit it. They now guarantee the rights of private property. Capital is invited to revive Russian industries in return for big concessions. Individuals are urged to carry on private trade. And last October we heard the famous confession of Lenin: "We have suffered a terrible defeat on the economic front. Let us retreat, and rebuild everything in a new way."

The course of the Russian evolution now hinges upon recognition of the Soviets at Genoa. The nations have objected to Communism, as a world menace. The Soviets declare they are washed clean of such principles of government. It remains to be seen whether the economic needs of Europe for Russian assistance will triumph, or the political antipathies fed by the emigres of the old regime.

Returned travelers tell us there is no apparent possibility of an overthrow of the Soviets. If Russia is to be helped to her feet it must be through dealing with the present rulers. Past negotiations have not been satisfactory, but there is more danger in sight by ignoring Russia than by treating with the Soviets.

Sir Philip Gibbs, recently returned from Russia, writes: "The Soviet government is still strong politically, and no soul I met sees any alternative to its rule. But it is so depressed for economic aid, so convinced of its own failure, that it is willing to yield any kind of concession, to agree to any kind of condition, save that of self-annihilation, to abandon the last remnants of its system, in order to restore the economic life of Russia and establish international credit."

Russia, then, is the ultimate problem in Europe. When the fallow fields of Russia are again waving with grain it won't make so much difference to Europe that wheat is expensive in America. The countries with cheap currencies can buy from Russia, and sell to Russia. Following recognition capital will pour into Russia under guarantee, trade will open, and into that tremendous vacuum will flow the products which glut the European storehouses.

Recognition of the Soviets, with no further delay for that miraculous reaction of the monarchists, will save Russia from utter ruin, and redeem Europe.

THE BOYS WILL GET THEIR CHANCE

Sirs.—Your competitions for children are just the things Shanghai needs, and allow me to congratulate you upon the excellent idea. You have given the girls an appropriate subject undoubtedly, but to the boys you have made the game somewhat "tougher."

I don't think the boys are anywhere near the girls for contributing good, readable matter for your columns: This is due to the fact that the subject you have given them provides little or no opportunity to show their talents. Arthur Ladow (one of the prize winners) wrote an account of an incident, but Oriel French's literary attempt is by far the better of the two, because she has a bigger field and a more suitable one to work in.

For instance: a boy, who has been living decorously and had nothing romantic and thrilling during his dreary existence, should find himself unable to give vent to his literary talents.

Remember it is not everybody who has had adventurous dealings with (say) wild Indians in Virginia, or has had the temptations of Adam, to reproduce in black and white for the world to read. I am, etc.

Gentle Opposition.

Good Meat

Beef should be a bright cherry color, firm, juicy, finely grained, somewhat elastic, smooth and velvety to the touch. A bluish color denotes poor meat. The fat should be a pale yellow, but not oily or fibrous. Beef suet should be white, dry and crumbly.

Mutton should be plump, not too lean, small-boned, short-legged and finely grained. The loin should have a dark-brownish hue and should not be inter-grained with fat. The fat should be clear, white and solid and fairly abundant. Mutton, like beef, requires to be well hung before using.

Pork should be carefully chosen, as the pig is more subject to disease than other animals. The lean ought to be a delicate pink, smooth, firm and juicy, and the fat white and clear without specks or kernels.

Veal requires to be eaten soon after it has been killed. The flesh should be plump, white and firm, with clear fat.

Frozen meat should be cooked as soon as it is thawed. If it is to be roasted put it in a cool oven and increase the heat gradually. If it is to be boiled put on in cold water and bring slowly to a boil.

Sims On Submarines

BY ADMIRAL W. S. SIMS

(In a letter to the New York Times)

The opinions that have recently been appearing in the newspapers concerning the submarine are so conflicting that a brief discussion of its legitimate functions may be of some interest to your readers.

In certain important respects the offensive and defensive properties of this vessel are more remarkable than those of any other type. By reason of its very nature it has a power of offense greater than that possessed by any surface craft; it is the only kind of vessel that cannot be prevented going where it pleases, except into densely guarded areas of small size, in spite of any force of surface vessels remaining in any particular area of water deep enough to permit submerged operations. But perhaps the most remarkable quality is that the submarine is more effective against enemy submarines than any other vessel. The records during the great war showed that, in proportion to the numbers of the various kinds of anti submarine craft employed, the allied submarines destroyed three times as many German submarines as the allied destroyers and twenty times as many as the auxiliary patrol craft. (See "The Victory at Sea," page 263).

The submarine can prevent a close blockade by surface vessels. Such a blockade was at first attempted in the Heligoland Bight, but resulted in the torpedoing by submarines of so many men-of-war that it had to be abandoned, and the blockade was rendered partially effective only because the peculiar geographical positions of the British Isles and Germany made it possible to guard the north and south entrances of the North Sea by surface blockading forces at such a distance from the German submarine bases as to be relatively immune from attack.

The submarine also forced the blockading vessels to keep under way and zigzag at high speed, and this could be done only by vessels operated at a short distance from their bases, as in the case of the British vessels blockading the North Sea during the great war. Such operations could not be carried out at a distance of two or three thousand miles from adequate bases of supply. For example, it would be impracticable for any possible naval force effectively to blockade New York, the Delaware and the Chesapeake if these positions were adequately defended by seagoing submarines. In this respect, submarines have certain offensive properties not enjoyed by airplanes, for while the latter are limited in radius of action and duration of flight, and to a certain extent by weather conditions, submarines can keep the sea for weeks, withstand any weather conditions, and have a much greater radius of action than any other type of vessel of whatever size.

So powerful is the submarine, and so effective are even the present types, that there can be no doubt that it has greater offensive properties for this purpose than any other type of vessel; and the cruising submarine can be used more continuously and more effectively against an enemy's commerce than any other type of vessel, and this without any violation of international law. With few exceptions, the German cruising submarines were so used during the war, often keeping the sea for three months at a time, using a captured vessel as a floating base, destroying many others and insuring the safety of their crews by finally sending them into port on the captured vessel.

The submarine can maintain a scouting line before an enemy's port, or in any other position, and not only can no possible force of surface vessels drive the scouting line away, but they would run serious risk of destruction in attempting it. Its great radius of action enables it to do this at a distance of many thousands of miles from its base, as demonstrated by the German U-boats operating on our coast during the war.

In connection with this subject of submarines, it is astonishing the amount of misinformation that has appeared and is still appearing in the press. This refers particularly to the "lessons" derived from the operations of the allied navies against submarines during the war. For example, because the British fleet cruised where it pleased in the North Sea, in spite of submarines, it is assumed that any fleet could do so anywhere; that submarines could not materially restrict the operations of fleets. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The safety of the British fleet was insured by its heavy screens of cruisers and destroyers and by zigzagging at high speed. This would be impossible in operations in the presence of submarines at a considerable distance from the fleet bases of supply, and this for the very simple reason that even the most modern vessels cannot steam far at high peeed, and that their escort of destroyers have a much more restricted radius of action. For example, the British fleet with all its power, based on its home ports, could not maintain itself before, say, a South American port adequately defended by submarines.

A somewhat similar assumption is that because convoys of merchant vessels were successfully escorted into European ports during the war therefore convoys can be similarly protected against submarine attack in any part of the ocean. This is a dangerous error for the public to base an opinion upon.

The success of the German submarines in attacking allied merchant shipping, and the subsequent success of the allied navies in protecting this shipping in convoys, were both due to the simple fact that the geographical situation was such that the bulk of the shipping had to converge to pass through the English Channel or the Irish Sea; the submarine (except the few cruising subs) could not operate more than about 300 miles to the westward of these channels, because farther out the dispersion of the shipping would have been so wide that they would have sighted but few vessels. This inevitable restriction of the submarine's operations within this limited area made it possible for the destroyer forces, based on Queenstown, Brest and the Western Channel ports, to protect the convoys in their passage through this area—the so-called submarine danger zone. That is, the destroyers were able to do this because the distances that they were required to steam from their bases of supply were not beyond their radii of action at the speeds required for this service. Manifestly, such service could not be performed outside the radius of action of the escorting vessels.

Another conclusion of the "expert" press correspondent is that because the German submarines rarely attacked men-of-war they were not much use as weapons, after all; that they thereby showed that they could not have achieved considerable success in such attacks. This matter is explained in The Victory at Sea. Assuming the decision of the German Admiralty to violate the laws of humanity and international law, their submarine campaign was strategically sound. A determined submarine attack upon the vessels of the Allies would doubtless have been reasonably successful, but the loss of submarines would have been considerable, and it would have been risking a great deal to have assumed that the submarines could have sufficiently weakened the Grand Fleet before too many of their number had been destroyed. Therefore the German naval authorities acted upon the much safer, and I believed sounder, decision to avoid a costly "frontal" attack in favor of an attack upon the Allies' wholly essential sea lines of communications, that is, the merchant shipping—a most inviting objective, considering the fact that this shipping was very inadequately protected at the time the intensive submarine campaign was decided upon.

However, as it is a fact that the submarines systematically avoided action with men-of-war, except in the few cases where they believed they were sure of a killing, it is apparent that the record the submarines made in such attacks against men-of-war does not justify the conclusion that these results are a measure of what submarines are capable of doing in well organised and concerted attacks against naval forces.

Auction Bridge—Player's School

BY R. F. FOSTER

(Author of Foster On Auction, etc.)

In their attempts to make the rules of the games simpler, for the benefit of those who were just taking it up, the old whist players were in the habit of resorting to short and easily remembered maxims, which were supposed to cover the situation to which they applied.

In the older books on the game of whist we find that even after a learned discussion on the tactics of the play the author evidently thought it necessary to condense at the end and give the gist of what had already been said in the form of maxims. At the end of Deschappelle's incomplete work we find these in French and also in rhyme.

It is unfortunate that when we come to apply these short and simple rules to the game of auction bridge they are found not only open to several important exceptions, but from their very brevity to be misleading. One of these maxims which one frequently hears quoted is, "Second hand low, third hand high."

Passing over for the present the first part of this maxim, which is open to criticism on account of the many situations in which second hand should not play low, we find the second part of the maxim contains a peculiar ambiguity which has led many a bridge player into error.

When you tell a beginner to play "third hand high," the natural understanding of such a direction is to select the highest card in hand of the suit led. Any player of ordinary intelligence knows enough not to play third hand high if the card led by his partner is as good as anything third hand holds, or if the second hand has already played a card that the third hand cannot beat; yet neither of these exceptions is noted in the maxim as it stands.

The error into which most beginners fall in applying this simple rule is in playing their highest card. Playing high third hand actually means to play a high card, as distinguished from a low card. It does not mean to play the highest of the suit.

A much better maxim for the third hand would be to win tricks as cheaply as you can, taking care to examine the dummy's cards before playing. If your partner leads a seven and dummy has the deuce, nine and ten, you holding the trey, eight and jack, there is no necessity to play the jack if dummy plays small. If you have to win a trick, or try to do so, with ace and king in your hand, the king is good enough. It is a high card, as distinguished from a low card. This winning tricks as cheaply as possible is sometimes very important. See the situation below:

H.—A 3
C.—10 7 5
D.—Q J 9 8 7 2
S.—K 6

H.—K 9 2 / C.—J 9 8 6 4 / D.—K 5 / S.—Q J 7

Y / A B / Z

H.—Q J 10 8 / C.—K Q 3 / D.—10 6 / S.—8 4 3 2

H.—7 6 5 4
C.—A 2
D.—A 4 3
S.—A 10 9 5

Z dealt and bid no-trumps. A leading a small club and dummy playing "second hand low." On examining the scores it was found that one table had gone game on this hand, and on being asked to explain it, the loss of the game was found to be due to the misuse of the rule, "third hand high."

On the first trick B had played the king of clubs instead of the queen. This led his partner, who was a careful player, to place the queen with Z, because if the third hand has to put up the king to get the trick it should be because he could not get it any more cheaply. It is like paying a dollar for what you might get for 50 cents.

If one had no partner, or was playing the dummy, it would not make any difference which card was played, as one is as good as the other, so far as winning the trick goes. But with a partner who watches the fall of the cards and draws inferences from them it may make a great deal of difference. In this case, when Z led the ace and then a small diamond and A won with the king he saw at once that if he led another club and Z had the queen all the diamonds would make, and A would have to throw away a great many good clubs to protect hearts and spades.

This being his view of the situation, it is clear that the only chance to save the game is that B holds the ace of spades and can kill the king, so A leads the spade queen and loses the game. At the other tables, the bid and opening being the same, B played the queen of clubs third hand.

Of course, Z may have held both ace and king, and in such cases the declarer usually false-cards any way, but in this case B has not denied the king, as he denied the queen in the play already given, so A led another club after winning the diamond and made four club tricks, saving the game.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

Auction Bridge

Question—Dealer bids no-trump, second and third hands pass. The fourth hand bids two clubs and the dealer two no-trumps. What should second hand do now, holding six diamonds to the king jack, ace queen small in hearts, king ten small in spades and a singleton small club?—A. M. G.

Answer—The decision seems to be between setting the no-trump pretty decisively by doubling and trying for game in diamonds. If B can be relied on for being a sound player, his bid should show more in setting the contract. Then A should double.

Question—The dealer starts with a bid of four in diamonds, which second hand doubles. The double is left in and the dealer just makes the contract and, at the double value, the game. A says her double was to get a bid from her partner. Her partner says a double of four at any stage is a business double. A thinks any double at the first opportunity is a call for a bid. Which of these is correct?—M.E.C.

Answer—Good players have thought it necessary to draw a line somewhere and have agreed that a double of more than one in no-trumps or three in suit means business, whether that double is made at the first opportunity or not.

Question—B overcalls Z's four hearts with four spades, which Y doubled (A and Y passing, of course); B redoubled, but Z, not hearing the redouble, led a card, thinking the play was to be at doubled spades. It is admitted that B redoubled and that Z did not say "pass" after the redouble. Does the redouble stand? If not, what happens?—S.V.P.

Answer—Even if Z did not hear the redouble he must have known that the bidding was not concluded until not only Z himself but A were satisfied. It looks as if Z were liable for a lead during the bidding and must leave the card as exposed, his partner being barred from further bidding. The redouble stands.

Poker

Question—Playing deuces wild, A holds three aces, a deuce and a queen. He calls his hand three aces, and B shows a straight. Is A allowed to recall his hand correctly and lay down his cards to show it?—H.D.

Answer—The implication is that A did not place his five cards on the table when called, as he should have done. If he does so now the cards show for themselves if the pot is still there. If it is gone, he is too late.

Question—If the opener of a jack pot is not called, is it not enough to show his pair of openers?—D.M.L.

Answer—That depends on whether he was not called before or after the draw. If no one came in he must show his five cards. If he has drawn cards and is not called, openers only.

Question—A opens a jack, B and C stay. After the draw A bets a check and B calls, C raising the limit. A shows his openers and quits. B throws up his hand and C takes the pot without showing his hand. The opener demands that C shows his hand.—G.F.L.

Answer—As C did not open and the opener dropped out without calling him, B also refusing to call, no one can demand a sight of C's hand.

Nanking Church Council's Progressive Campaign

BY SAMUEL J. MILLS

Just a little over three years ago a most interesting meeting was held in the home of one of the missionaries in Nanking, in the province of Kiangsu, China. The two large rooms were crowded with men and women, old and young. Many had been in the city for years while others were fresh from the Language School but all those present had shown their interest in the topic that was to be presented and discussed by braving the elements and going out on that wet, slushy day, so typical of China New Year weather. After the opening of the meeting, one of the older men outlined the proposition that was to be presented to the missionary community of Nanking. For several years there had been union work along medical and educational lines, why not have the same spirit of co-operation in evangelistic work? Finally, after much discussion, most of which pointed to a desire to see such a union scheme projected, a committee was formed to go into the details.

While three years have passed since that meeting, the Nanking Church Council has really only been in operation for a little over a year. Under the leadership of Dr. P. F. Price, of the Southern Presbyterian Mission, the Council has entered into a period of real service to the community. There is no question of relinquishing denominational lines at present or of an organic union, but wherever it has been possible the Church has acted as a clearing house for the missions in their evangelistic work and has made unnecessary the reduplication of machinery on the part of each mission when city-wide movements have been promoted. With "Nanking for Christ" as its motto, many new phases of work have been initiated and energetically pushed by the Chinese and American members of the Council's numerous committees.

As Executive Secretary, Dr. Price guides and directs and is the genius of the whole movement, and all this in addition to his regular work in the Nanking School of Theology. Two Chinese assist him, one as Evangelistic Secretary and the other as Secretary for Literature, while all the English secretarial work is handled by a lady who came out from the States with that object definitely in mind. The membership of the committees is made up of Chinese and foreigners, who, in this union work, give a splendid example of the common interest of those who are engaged in work that is wider and greater than denominationalism.

Thanks to the generosity of Rev. J. H. Blackstone, Field Secretary of the Stewart Evangelistic Fund, a building has been placed at the disposal of the Church Council for use as its headquarters. In addition to accommodating the many committees that meet almost daily, this building lives up to its union motto by housing several groups that are without quarters of their own. The Christian Koreans in the city meet here for their Sunday services. One of the missions holds its weekly prayer-meeting there, while the Chinese Pastors' Association gathers once a month in one of the committee rooms.

A union gathering on Good Friday of last year was held in the Central Methodist Church, at which 1,000 Christian Chinese met. In the same building a union prayer-meeting was held at which the object of prayer was the Washington Conference. A Christmas Parade was set up and successfully carried out. In these, and many other ways, the Council has made it possible for the churches of the city to present a united front to the non-Christians.

Among the regular activities of the Council several departments of work should be mentioned. A Bible Reading Movement has been promoted and presented to all the congregations in city churches. A Stewardship Committee, under the leadership of an energetic Chinese pastor, is making clear to the Chinese church its duty along that line. A Personal Work Committee is trying to stir up the 2,400 Christians in the city so that the aim of the Council—an increase of 1-3 in church membership each year—may be reached. The coordinating and standardising of Sunday Schools is being handled by another committee, while aid in city campaigns has been made possible through the services of Rev. W. T. Longden, who is working under the Stewart Evangelistics Campaign. Opportunities for work in two of the prisons have been given and the two Chinese secretaries each give an afternoon a week to this form of evangelism. All of these activities were formerly conducted by the different churches, but no coordination was possible and the same mistakes were made by different groups in their efforts to accomplish the same end, while there was little or no chance for an exchange of ideas and experiences.

On the site where the matched was erected it is hoped to build a large institutional plant that will help to bring the message of salvation to the many thousands that are always to be found in that part of the city. Right near where, in the days of the old regime, the 30,000 examination stalls were to be found and where now teahouses and amusement halls have been built, the South City Center will certainly do a great deal to forward the evangelisation of Nanking.

Mr S. T. Wen, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, who has returned from the Washington Conference which he attended as an advisor to the Chinese delegation, is chairman of the Social Service Committee. Plans have been drawn up for a model rickshaw coolies' settlement, with 50 huts, to accommodate as many families with wells, playground and school house. Just at present the project has been held up by difficulties in getting a suitable piece of land. In the meantime a small plot has been secured in the western section of the city and a rickshaw coolies' shelter is being put up, a well is being dug and a playground for the children of the community is to be opened under the direction of the physical training department of the Y. M. C. A.

In addition to work along evangelistic lines, a literature department is quietly spreading books and tracts throughout the city, mailing any book that they have in stock to any person whose name is given in to the secretary. A monthly paper, in Chinese, is published, in the columns of which the activities of the various committees are explained and by which it is possible to acquaint its large circle of readers of the doings of the Council.

Splendid work has already been done, and it is the confident hope and expectation of all of the Chinese Christians and missionaries that the circle of usefulness of the Nanking Church Council will ever continue to widen, until efficient and thorough evangelism will be possible throughout the whole city and the many thousands now untouched will have an opportunity to know the power of a Living Christ in lives shackled and burdened by sin. "For this end we must knit together as one man. We must entertain each other in brotherly affection. We must be willing to abridge ourselves of our superfluities for the supply of others' necessities."

Justice Court To Work With League

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Paris, Feb. 16.—The permanent, international court of Justice which was opened at the Hague on Wednesday in the presence of Queen Wilmina of Holland, the Prince Consort, representatives of the Dutch Government and also of the Brazilian Ambassador in Paris, M. Decamba, the President of the League of Nations, and of Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the League, will examine all questions of an international character and give consultations and advice on points which the League of Nations shall refer to the Court for its opinion.

One local paper has reproduced the decisions made by the permanent Court of Arbitration, that formerly existed at the Hague, in the incident between Russia and England, the Manouba and Carthage affairs, and the Franco-German difference at Casablanca. But it points out that the Court of Arbitration lacked the judicial character of the new International and Permanent Court of Justice, which will settle law points and issue sentences based on the texts of treaties and conventions.

Wirth's Success Pleases French

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Paris, Feb. 16.—The victory of the Wirth Cabinet by a majority of thirty-five votes as announced on Wednesday last, brings the French Press to the opinion that, given the existing circumstances nothing better could have been hoped for. Le Temps declares that the parties and the Government, the Socialists, the Catholics and the Democrats, have shown that they are capable of governing together and their collaboration has brought much improvement in the position of the Government.

Le Temps recalls that the party of Hugo Stinnes fought with Wirth and Rathenau because they refused to declare Germany bankrupt.

OPIUM IN ENGLAND
(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—Large quantities of opium are being smuggled into England and constituting a menace, stated a Customs Officer at Hull today, when a Chinese seaman was fined £20 with the alternative of two months' imprisonment for attempting to smuggle one pound of opium.

KOO PROTESTS
(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Feb. 18.—Mr. Wellington Koo is said to have raised serious objections to his recall to Peking.

Transport Halts Russian Relief

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—In the House of Commons today at question-time, Sir Philip Lloyd Graame, the Director of Overseas Trade, said that he was unable to give reliable figures in regard to the number of persons affected by the famine in Russia or who died of starvation, but undoubtelly the situation in some parts of the famine area was most dangerous.

He mentioned that Sir Benjamin Robertson had expressed the opinion that owing to the inadequacy of Russian transport, no more imports of foodstuffs than already arranged to mid-April could be dealt with.

No British relief had been diverted to feed the Bolshevik army or maintain the Soviet Government and, as far as the Government was aware, this also applied to contributions in other countries.

Harding Declines To Tell Senators About Treaties

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 20.—In the Senate today President Harding, replying to the resolution asking for full information regarding the negotiation of the Pacific Treaty, said that it was impossible to furnish the required information because most of the negotiations had been conducted without being recorded and it was incompatible with public interests to disclose confidential negotiations between the Powers concerned. He declared however that there was no concealed undertaking or any secret exchange of notes.

Washington, Feb. 20.—After an hour's debate today the Foreign Relations Committee by 10 votes to 1 reported in favor of the Yap Treaty.

Havre, Feb. 20.—The French Delegation to the Washington Conference has arrived here.

France Demands Release Of Boat Seized By Greeks

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 20.—The French press is indignant at the Greek seizure in Greek waters of a cargo of coal from the French steamer Espoir, bound for Mersina, on the ground that it is contraband of war. It points out that the incident is more unfortunate as the Allies are about to offer to mediate in the Turco-Greek war.

The French Government has sent a note to Greece demanding the release of the Espoir, Greece has replied that in spite of her friendship towards France she cannot endanger the safety of the Greek army, and adds that the Espoir will be released after discharging her cargo.

Joint Committee Will Distribute Famine Relief

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang, February 15.—In order to effect the distribution of the $66,000 for famine relief allotted by the Peking Committee a Provincial International Famine Relief Society has been formed here. An executive committee consisting of six Chinese and six foreigners has been chosen. The Chinese are representatives of local organisations. The foreigners who have so far accepted responsibility in the organisation are Messrs. Johnson, Brown, Blydenburgh and Bennett of the M. E. Mission, Mr. J. G. Kauderer of the C. I. M. and A. J. Allen of the Y. M. C. A.

Although Kiangsi has never known a famine the unprecedented drought of the past year cut the second corp harvest as much as fifty percent and in no section was there a third crop. In the lowlands no first crop is ever possible owing to high water in the spring of the year and these places are most in need of relief at the present time. Rice is two and three times its regular price and in some sections the lack of seed rice is serious. Foreigners and Chinese alike agree that conditions are worse than they have been in many years.

Five Tuchuns To Hold Conference

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Feb. 20.—A circular telegram is reported to have been issued jointly by the Tuchuns of Hunan, Kiangsu and Fukien, stating that they are going to hold a conference at Nanking to mediate between the Fengtien and Chihli factions. The reason for their coming to this conclusion, it is said, is due to their apprehensions that extraordinary events may be engendered from the present strained political situation.

SILESIAN PARLEY
(Chung Mei News Agency)

Berlin, Feb. 16.—The first meeting of the German and Polish delegations charged with the duty of giving provisional status to the plebiscite territory of Upper Silesia, left an impression of optimism. An attitude of conciliation is present among all concerned that warrants the belief that it will not take long to come to a satisfactory agreement and to adopt in their meetings all the articles necessary.
